Forecast for Monday 13 Jun 2022

Weather: A chilly start, with isolated patches of mist or fog forming during the early hours in some valleys, these quickly clearing after dawn. Otherwise, a fine and dry day of light winds. Fair weather cloud bubbling up to give a cloudier afternoon but widely still seeing sunny intervals, prolonged at times.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 80% initially, mainly on northwestern slopes, soon becoming 95%.

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud bases generally above hill tops, however, some cloud may cover slopes down to around 500m on some northwestern slopes at first. The odd pocket of mist and fog could also lift from valleys to briefly obscure a few routes around daybreak. Visibility briefly poor or very poor in early mist or fog, otherwise very good.
